TOKYO—(AP)—An American task force thrust nearly eight miles inside Red Korea today at the spearhead of an allied drive along 40 miles of the western and central fronts.

This was the deepest penetration into Red Korea of the current allied drive.

A U. S. Eighth Army communiqué reported the force met only light resistance in its patrol to the vicinity of Chail, nearly eight miles north of parallel 38 on the Uijongbu-Kumhwa road.

Labor Boycott May Be Solved

Conference Tackles Mobilization Mixup

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman called in chieftains of the big unions today to talk over organized labor's boycott of defense mobilization agencies.

The 18-man United Labor Policy Committee (ULPC) arranged to confer with the president (3 p. m. EST) on the recently announced mobilization advisory committee. Under the plan announced by Mr. Truman two weeks ago, labor would have four representatives on an overall policy committee of 17 members. None of them have yet been named.

The ULPC directed its members to withdraw from all defense agencies on Feb. 28.

It represents all the big unions except four operating rail unions and John L. Lewis' Mine Workers.

Economic stabilizer Eric Johnston last night told reporters he had all but given up efforts to bring the nation's top management and labor spokesmen into agreement on the remodeling of a wage stabilization board which could handle mobilization disputes between now and June 30th, when the present defense production act expires.

Creation of a board of only public members—abandoning the three-way labor-management-public theory—seemed a likely compromise.

Circus Opens With Glitter Of Hollywood

Top Stars Perform In Purple Sawdust

NEW YORK—(AP)—The circus came to town last night—but at times it was a little hard to recognize.

The sawdust was purple, except where it was orange in the three center rings. Dancers dressed like pineapples hang by one foot 20 feet in the air and played xylophones. Metropolitan opera star Lauritz Melchior led a parade with strip dancer Gypsy Rose Lee in the last float. (No, Miss Lee didn't.)

Durante Sings

And that parade ended with everybody singing "White Christmas" while imitation snowflakes sifted down from overhead.

It all happened in Madison Square Garden, with dozens of stars of the entertainment world popping in and out among the glamorous, glittering gals and the marvelous mastodontic mammals (elephants, to you.)

The "greatest show on earth," as the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey modestly describe their circus, began its 1951 season with a benefit performance for the New York Heart association.

Stars of stage, screen, radio and television helped enthusiastically, occasionally turning the circus into a Hollywood extravaganza.

Sometimes it became a rather roomy nightclub, as when Jimmy Durante and his oldtime partner Eddie Jackson sang "Bill Bailey, Won't You Please Come Home," while Lauritz Melchior conducted a ten-piece band.

Brother Sues To Break Will Of Mrs. Ford

Kin Ignored, Claims $8,500,000 Estate

DETROIT—(AP)—The late Mrs. Henry Ford's brother plans to sue in an effort to break her will.

Edgar Leoy Bryant, a brother of the late Mrs. Clara Bryant Ford and operator of a Ford car agency, filed a probate court petition here yesterday which seeks, in effect, to void Mrs. Ford's will.

Bryant, ignored in the will, contended he should get his sister's entire estate—$8,500,000.

Verbal Promise Recalled

His attorney, Edward Barnard, said Bryant backed his claim by quoting the late Mrs. Ford as saying:

"Henry may do what he wants with his property, but I am going to give you mine."

However, Attorney Clifford B. Longley, representing the Ford estate, said he believed "Bryant was pretty well taken care of by Mr. and Mrs. Ford during their lifetime."

A hearing on the claim is scheduled April 18 before probate judge James Sexton.

When auto magnate Henry Ford died in April, 1947, he noted in his will that he had "heretofore provided generously for my wife." He left most of his estate to the Ford Foundation, a non-profit organization separate from the Ford Motor Co.

Museum Benefits

Mrs. Ford died Sept. 29, 1950. Her will, filed for probate about a month later, provided that $4,000,000 go to the Edison Institute, a museum near the Ford property. There was no mention of Bryant or a sister, Mrs. Eva Brubaker.

The rest of Mrs. Ford's estate was left to two of her grandchildren, William Clay Ford and Mrs. Josephine Ford Ford. The will explained that earlier bequests had taken care of two other grandsons, Henry Ford II, now president of the Ford company, and Benson Ford.

Nose Punches Saved For Writers Of Lies About Truman Family

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A quick White House denial that President Truman wants to change the rules for electing members of Congress apparently squelched what might have been a political boner.

But there still was fuel for controversy today in the statement attributed to the president—and thus far not denied—that he is "saying up four or five good, hard punches on the nose" for persons who have written "lies" about his family.

Threatens Shooting

John Hersey wrote in the New Yorker magazine that the president added in a conversation with him:

"And when I'm out of this job, I'm going to run around and deliver them personally."

Hersey said that on an early morning stroll together, the president told him:

"When you come down to it, there's just one thing I draw the line at and that's the kind of attack on my family."

"I don't care what they say about me. I'm human. I can make mistakes. Any man can make mistakes, even if he's trying with all his heart and mind to do the

Hospital Fund Requests Grow

Powers Sanatorium Bids For $400,000

LANSING—(AP)—The House refused yesterday to act hastily on a committee to study local requests for shares in the $65,000,000 bond issue money for hospitals.

The special committee was proposed by Rep. Harold Hungerford (R-Lansing) who sought to suspend rules for an immediate vote.

He ran into opposition from the powerful ways and means committee, however, and his proposal was sent to a committee for study.

Ways and means members pointed out that a special subcommittee had been working with a senate sub-committee for weeks on the same problem. They charged a special committee would be "unnecessary and might impede the progress of the sub-committees."

"The idea is to get some action this session," Hungerford snapped back.

Legislators have been dropping bills into the hopper since the start of the session proposing a bite out of the bond issue for their own Tuberculosis Sanatoria.

The latest bill was filed in the House by Rep. James Goulette (R-Iron Mountain) proposing a $400,000 appropriation for the sanatorium at Powers.

Lansing Cousins, 3, Missing, Believed Drowned In River

LANSING—(AP)—Hope faded today for the safety of two three year old children, missing from their home over 24 hours and believed drowned in Lansing's Grand River.

The youngsters, cousins, are Sheila Lynn Clubman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clubman of Lansing, and Barry David Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Saul Stone of Detroit.

The Barry family was visiting at the Clubman home when the youngsters wandered off yesterday morning. A gas station attendant reported seeing the two tots, accompanied by their brown and white spaniel dog, headed toward the Grand River.

The dog returned home later alone, wet.

President Hails U. S. Support Of Atlantic Pact

Senate Backs Shift Of Four Divisions

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman today described the Senate's troops-for-Europe resolution as "further evidence that the country stands firm in its support of the North Atlantic treaty."

Mr. Truman hailed the resolution—endorsing his plan to send four additional army divisions to the Western European defense force—in a statement.

Queries Brushed Off

He read it at a news conference and then brushed off questions about a provision his leaders in the Senate fought against bitterly. This was the declaration that Mr. Truman should not deploy more than the four divisions to Europe "without further congressional authority."

The president has taken the stand he has full constitutional power to send American troops wherever he believes their presence will best serve the nation's interest.

In effect, the Senate declaration that he should get congressional approval to a challenge of that position.

But the president, in response to questions, told reporters he always has consulted with both houses on all major foreign policy steps.

Not Legally Binding

The only thing under consideration by the Senate was the question of providing the four divisions, Mr. Truman added.

The four divisions—about 100,000 men in all—are expected to start moving to Europe soon. They will join the two already assigned from occupation forces to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's North Atlantic defense force.

The Senate approved the controversial resolution by an overwhelming 69 to 21 vote. Voting for it were 42 Democrats and 27 Republicans; against were 19 Republicans and two Democrats.

This resolution called for "congressional approval" of any further peacetime reinforcements for Eisenhower's force. It was not legally binding on the president and there was a dispute over its moral persuasion. Nor did the resolution spell out just how Mr. Truman is to obtain congressional approval.

It was backed by an almost identical advisory resolution, passed 45 to 41, aimed at getting the House to act on the troops issue, too.

Japanese Ship Sinks; Five Lost, 41 Rescued

TOKYO—(AP)—Kyodo News Agency said today one Japanese crewman was killed, four are missing and 41 were rescued last night when the 2,218-ton freighter Hachime Maru sank after being rammed by the American freighter Tulane victory.

The news agency said the accident occurred off the northern tip of Kyushu island, where the Japanese freighter was anchored. The Tulane victory suffered damage to her bow but none of the crew was injured.

War Warning Echoes In Debate On Draft

By RUTH COWAN
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Speaker Sam Rayburn's warning of the "terrible danger" of another World War echoed in today's House debate on the draft-universal military training bill.

A contradictory statement by another Texan, Senator Tom Connally, added to the puzzlement of House members.

Rayburn broke into the House debate yesterday to declare:

"It is my firm belief that we are in greater danger of an expanding war today than we have been at any time since the close of the World War in 1945."

Not All Chinese

The speaker had just come from a White House briefing on Korea. He told of a massing of troops in Manchuria "and not all of them Chinese Communist." He did not elaborate on that. And he declined to say whether he was talking about Russians.

In Tokyo, informed quarters at General MacArthur's headquarters said Russia's Far Eastern army has shown no tendency to build up its forces within Manchuria. However, the Russians are believed to maintain some garrisons in Chinese territory. Two Mongol cavalry divisions have been identified in Korea.

In the Senate, Connally said "there will be no World War this year. The Russians will not defy the free nations of the world."

Connally had not attended the White House briefing. He spoke out during Senate debate on the troops-to-Europe issue.

Opposition Gains Support

Rayburn warned the House earnestly against "complacency" over the future. He promised to speak again later and give some more information he thought his colleagues lacked.

The House bill would lower the draft age from 19 to 18½, extend the length of service and set up a program of universal military training. The Senate has passed a similar measure with an 18-year age minimum.

Rep. Barden (D-NC) led an attack against the House measure. He demanded passage of a draft measure alone, with universal training left to separate legislation. And he appeared to be gaining support.

Secretary of the Army Peace announced the "rotation" plans today. He said Gen. Douglas MacArthur will decide policy on selection of men to be sent home. The first battle veterans should sail from Korea within a few weeks, Pace said.

Pace emphasized that the rate of rotation will depend upon both the flow of replacements to the war theatre and upon the necessity to maintain combat effectiveness of all units now in Korea.

He said the exchange of fresh men for battle veterans will eventually run to about 20,000 each month. The Army said this rate may be reached by early summer.

Price Control Lists Extended

More Retail Stores Under Markup Plan

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The government today extended its retail margin-type price control to about 76,000 additional retail stores doing about $7,000,000,000 in consumer goods sales annually.

Among the new items to which percentage markups now will apply are musical instruments, radio and television sets, phonographs and records, housewares, notions, luggage, sporting goods and silverware, chinaware, glassware, jewelry, watches and clocks.

The new order, which amends and extends ceiling price regulation 7, is effective April 10. The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) said the effect of the amendment is to remove the specified merchandise from the general price freeze and apply the pricing chart method of control.

Commodities affected by the original order included all of the items commonly sold in the men's and women's apparel and shoe stores, most of the items carried in furniture and floor covering stores, and more than 75 percent of the volume handled by department stores.

The new order thus broadens extensively the list of consumer goods now covered by percentage markup regulations.

The new amendment provides for "permitted increases" by retailers. This allows a retailer to raise his prices and pass on to consumers certain increases in costs of goods he buys from manufacturers and wholesalers.

Film Oscar Winners Linked To Red Hoax

By BARNEY LIVINGSTONE
WASHINGTON—(AP)—The House un-American activities committee has linked several hundred prominent Americans—among them movie academy award winners Jose Ferrer and Judy Holliday—with what it described as a Communist "world-wide peace offensive."

At the same time last night, the committee intimated that many so named may have been unwitting dupes of the Red campaign, which it described as "the most dangerous hoax ever devised by the International Communist conspiracy."

In a foreword to a 166-page analysis of Communist "peace" tactics, which it declared was intended to destroy American morale and shield Russian military intentions, the committee made provision for disclaimers by innocent persons.

A prompt denial came from Miss Holliday, whose portrayal of the dumb blonde in "Born Yesterday" won her this year's movie Oscar.

In a statement issued in New York, she declared she was "not a member of any organization listed by the attorney general as subversive. In any instance where I lent my name in the past, it was certainly without knowledge that such an organization was subversive."

Miss Holliday said she previously had made a sworn statement "to the effect that I am not now and never have been a member of the Communist party."

3 Young Men Are Arrested

Policeman Jim Norrick arrested Martin Goodwill on Delta avenue at 5 this morning while he was driving a light coupe stolen from John R. Olson, 912 Wisconsin avenue, Gladstone, at 9 last night.

Upon questioning, Martin implicated his brother, Joseph, and Peters. He said the trio had made the trip in the stolen Olson car to Stephenson and return.

School Salaries Boost To Cost $19,000 Total

To meet cost of living increases and obtain good teachers for Escanaba city schools, the board of education is making an upward revision in its salary schedule that will cost an estimated additional $19,000 for the coming school year.

The new salary schedule was approved Tuesday night at a special session following conferences with a teachers' committee and will be adopted in regular meeting April 10.

Supt. John A. Lemmer advised the board that unless higher salaries are offered it will be difficult to find teachers to fill vacancies in the city school system.

Others Paying More

Cities in Wisconsin are paying $2,700 and $2,800 starting salaries to teachers, while in Lower Peninsula cities the starting rate is up to $3,000 in many places, Supt. Lemmer said.

Escanaba's starting salary under the old schedule was $2,600, and the new schedule will boost it to $2,700.

"Considering a salary schedule means that many factors must be taken into account, an important one being whether or not money will be available to pay according to the schedule," Supt. Lemmer advised the board.

In discussion it was revealed that local industries have made wage adjustments to meet higher living costs. Two of Escanaba's larger industries are paying common labor $2,700 a year. The average at one large industry is $3,300 not including overtime pay.

Bonus Being Paid

To meet higher living costs in 1950-51, the board has already approved adjustments totaling $12,950 without changing the basic salary schedule. The teachers are expected to be paid another $75 adjustment about June 1, or an additional $10,800 total.

These cost of living adjustments are comparable to those being paid teachers in other districts, and come from state aid revenues that exceed last year's estimates.

Salaries paid by Escanaba city schools in 1949-50 totaled $411,000. The total for the current year 1950-51 will total $448,000 and the estimate for 1951-52 is an additional $19,000 under the new schedule.

Problem of Revenues

The necessity for increasing salaries has created a problem of financing that has not yet been answered. While state aid has increased, local tax contributions for schools have been held to a minimum.

This is indicated by comparative figures. Local taxes for schools in 1929-30 totaled $151,000, compared to $114,000 last year in Escanaba.

Escanaba city schools last year received a tax millage allocation of 7 mills. A higher allocation will be sought on the basis of budgetary need when the county tax allocation commission meets in May.

In a survey of school millage in other U. P. districts, the board reported that (compared to Escanaba's 7 mills for school operations) Crystal Falls receives 14, Munising 8.75, Negaunee 11.1, Ironwood 15. The Soo has 6 mills for operating but has an additional 8 mills voted above the 15-mill limit, plus 8.83 mills for debt service.

The 19,000 additional outlay for increased teachers' salaries represents less than 2 mills on Escanaba's present valuation.

59 Years of Steady Service

Rev. Reuben Youngdahl Tells How To Fill Pews

MADISON, Wis. — The name Youngdahl means the governor of Minnesota in political circles. In the realm of religion, however, the name spells one of the most successful Protestant ministers in the United States. Dr. Reuben Youngdahl, pastor of Mount Olivet Lutheran church, Minneapolis, and younger brother of Luther Youngdahl, the Minnesota governor, claims little of the credit for having his church named one of the 12 great churches of America by the Protestant magazine, the Christian Century. "Hard work" and "breaks" have helped enormously, he said.

The 39 year old pastor spoke Tuesday to some 80 ministers at the fifth annual conference of Wisconsin pastors at the University of Wisconsin Memorial Union. His subject was "What Makes a Church Great?"

"Too often ministers are too far detached from their people," he told the pastors.

"Give More Time"

"You can't preach that the world is on fire," he said, "if you go around as though you're saying, 'Let it burn up anyway.' We may have different talents to put to God's service, but one thing we have in common is 24 hours a day. The more time we give to our people, the more time people will give to the church."

"Many preachers are, frankly, lazy."

Tall, lanky Dr. Youngdahl is far from that. To save time he has a telephone in his car and sometimes takes one or two of his secretaries in his car—he has a driver—and dictates letters as he goes.

When Dr. Youngdahl accepted his present post in 1938, he was offered $1,200 the first year, half of the total income of the church. The church had 330 baptized members. Today the total income of the church is $200,000 and the membership has zoomed to 6,500.

Hits Pledge Campaigns

The condition on which the young minister accepted the pastorate was that he would be in charge of the stewardship program—that is, money raising. The proposed $1,200 was about $1,000 less than he was receiving from his previous church in Marshalltown, Iowa.

"Never publish a pledge," he warned the ministers. "The pledge a member makes to the church is between the member and God. Don't have a solicitation campaign. Don't even set a goal for the year."

"I have already lined up 20 luncheon engagements for next fall with key people," Dr. Youngdahl said. "I simply tell them the need and plans of the church."

The income from such luncheon appointments and from church dinners (14 of them are already scheduled for next fall) constitutes the bulk of the minister's stewardship program. "Then when the pledges are in," he said, "we set our budget."

Sensed a Revival

In traveling from California to Ohio in the last two months, Dr. Youngdahl said he has sensed a "tremendous revival of interest in religion."

WILL SPEAK HERE

Rev. Reuben Youngdahl of Minneapolis will be one of the principal speakers at the district convention of Kiwanis clubs to be held in Escanaba in August.

"It is a feeling born not of superstition, but of fear, that people have. They sense their inadequacy at having created atomic strength, beyond their control."

"If the motivating power is not the power of religion, then I don't know what power there is in a community. Too many of us speak of results without talking about what causes results — regenerated hearts."

Dr. Youngdahl's church has a small radio station which, connected by direct line with a radio station in Minneapolis, goes on the air twice a day. Dr. Youngdahl, with the aid of researchers and recordings, makes 14 sermons a week. The evening talks include children's dinner table prayers.

Home Crowded, Too

Even the Youngdahl home is geared for crowds of church members. In the last year, some 3,500 members have visited Dr. Youngdahl, his wife, Ruth, and their three children at their personal invitation on "open house"

High School-College Deferment Explained

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Practically every high school senior graduating this spring will be able to go to college in the fall, if he wishes, and be draft-proof at least until the end of his freshman term in 1952.

There may be a few exceptions to this, but they'll be very few.

Those two statements come from selective service headquarters. An explanation will be given in a moment. But first here is what the draft bosses also said about draft deferments for college students:

1. Anyone finishing his freshman term in college this spring—provided he's among the upper half of the male members of his class—can go back to college in the fall for his sophomore year without fear of being drafted for the next full college year.

But suppose a freshman finished below the upper half of his class this spring but wants to return for his sophomore year in the fall. How can he avoid being drafted?

First Test May 26

By taking a test provided by selective service—on May 26, June 16 or June 30—in one of 1,200 locations. If he makes 70 or more, he can return to college, draft-proof for another year.

2. This year's sophomore can go back to college as a junior in the fall, draft-proof for another year, if he's in the upper two-thirds of his class or gets 70 or more in the test.

3. Same for a youth finishing senior year this spring—if he wants to go into graduate school in the fall—provided he's in the upper half of his senior class or makes 75 (not 70) in the test.

Now for the selective service explanation—and all that follows here is from selective service headquarters—about the high school graduates who'll be draft-proof if they want to go to college in the fall:

Under present law youths 19 through 25 can be drafted, unless they get a postponement because older would be then taken.

Must Take Older Men

No. The rule still holds: Boards must take older men before taking younger ones. Since there's still a big pool between 19 and 20, drafting of those 18 or 19 is still a long way off.

Further, if draft calls remain at their present number, about 80,000 men a month, the draft boards generally will still be taking men mostly 20 to 21 by next fall without still having made much of a dent in the 19-year old group.

Most high school graduates are under 19. So it will be many months, after they get out of high school in June, before the boards will start looking at most of the new high school graduates. They'd have to take those 19 or over first. Further, it takes a board about three months to process a man for the draft: From the time it classifies him, notifies him, orders him to take a physical examination, and then orders him inducted.

When you put all these factors together—plus the fact that it's hardly three months before youths getting out of high school go into college in the fall—there's no time for the boards to tap them.

And once they're in college, starting as freshmen, they can't be drafted until next spring at the end of their freshman year, and then only if they are not in the upper half of their class or fail to make a grade of 70 in the aptitude test.

Traffic Accident Report For Last Year Shows Upward Trend

THE 1951 edition of The Traveler's annual book of street and highway accident information is being distributed now and, as usual, it contains considerable valuable and enlightening data on last year's traffic mishaps in the United States.

Do you believe that most car accidents are caused by inexperienced drivers operating cars in poor mechanical condition, perhaps on crooked roads and in bad weather?

The booklet, appropriately entitled "R. I. P." for "Rest in Pieces," reveals that

Two Constitutional Amendments Adopted

TWO of the constitutional amendment proposals presented to Michigan voters in Monday's election were approved by the electors and a third proposal, to allow supreme court justices to receive increased salaries, was rejected.

The proposals that were approved provide for annual sessions of the Michigan legislature and for a state bonus of $500 to survivors of Michigan men killed in the Korean war. All three of the proposals were meritorious and it is unfortunate that the voters rejected the proposed salary boost for supreme court justices.

Virtually all judges in Michigan have received salary boosts in recent years but constitutional barriers balked increases for supreme court justices. The amendment that was rejected by the voters simply would have made possible the correction of an unfair situation.

Annual sessions of the state legislature have become standard policy but the session every second year is subject to the governor's control as a special session. Only legislation that the governor permits the legislature to consider can be brought before the lawmakers in the special session.

The new amendment will provide for a regular session every year, thereby removing the governor's control of the legislative session in the second year. The governor, of course, can still call any additional special session that he may deem necessary.

The $500 bonus to survivors of men killed in the Korean war will be paid from funds still available from the state's war veteran's bonus bond issue sold after World War II. It is a token of the state's recognition of the great sacrifice made by those who have given their lives in defense of democracy.

Report U. S. Moose Herd On Increase

WE do not feel the way some folks apparently do when they read an item such as this. In the rush of events you may have missed it but a government agency in Washington announced the number of moose in the United States is increasing. The number has increased from 12,000 in 1944 to 19,000 today. There is something oddly reassuring in news of this sort when the countryman is getting ready to plow his light-soil field for patches of early corn and potatoes.

There is no point in assuming a chip-on-the-shoulder attitude; our tax money could be and often is, spent in many sillier ways than taking a moose census. Of course, one could ask why a moose census is essential to the nation's economy; some ornery citizens will want to know how completely the moose cooperated in the venture. Undoubtedly those who understand how to count moose accurately know whether to call in the morning, afternoon or evening. Furthermore, after the moose counting is finished in a given area, has the bureau in charge set up a system for checking the accuracy of the individual moose census taker's figures?

According to our admittedly casual research, moose were formerly fairly plentiful across the northern half of the United States. There was once an organization called "Association for Restoring Moose to the Adirondacks." In 1901 the New York legislature appropriated $5,000 to purchase moose for liberation in the mountains. In 1902, 15 beasts were liberated and after a few months no one ever heard or saw them again. It is heartening to know that moose are on the increase, although the countryman is inherently suspicious of specific round numbers in wildlife statistics. Perhaps we do have exactly 19,000 moose today; but we would wager a hot, fresh-made doughnut that a couple of smart moose (moose is the plural—it doesn't go the way goose and geese do) knew the government was taking the census and hid out in a large spruce swamp. Admittedly, we may be taking a petty, cantankerous view. Surely a moose census must have some valid purpose and one of these days it will occur to us.

Little Piece of Ground

By Gordon Martin

There are wonders all about us which the hand of man has made, and each day his many products help to brighten life's parade. Every sort of fine contraption he has made for us to use—from the scientific marvels to the gadgets which amuse. But in spite of all the brain and brawn for which he is renowned, not a miracle he makes can match a little piece of ground.

Just a dinky hunk of dirt but how it's blest by God's own hand giving strength to everything that grows to glorify the land. Just a seed or two, a little rain, and though the earth is bare, soon it's wearing crowns of flowers in a wealth of colors rare. Just a wisp of wind through boughs and twigs, and there for all to see, is a seedling pushing up the ground—the birthplace of a tree.

Just a little cultivation of the soil which grows our food, and we reap the golden harvest with a prayer of gratitude. Why, it's life for all of us on earth, the land gives up each day, and no matter how much progress we can boast along our way, it's a fact the latest miracle which men themselves have found, cannot match God's gift of growing in a little piece of ground.

MARTIN

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Four brief years ago an American plane flying along the Yugoslav-Austrian border was shot down by trigger-happy Yugoslav troops. Tempers flared, diplomats protested, ill feeling between the United States and the most powerful nation in the Balkans reached a dangerous climax.

Today, in contrast, the small farming town of Chester, New Jersey, is adopting the Yugoslav town of Kumrovec, which happens to be the birthplace of Marshal Tito.

There is nothing official about this adoption ceremony. It was worked out not by the governments of either country, but through an exchange of messages between its citizens, in which 300 Chester school kids participated.

Most interesting thing about Kumrovec is that, though the birthplace of Tito, it's getting sick of Communism and is vigorously pro-American. Gaston Coblenz, Belgrade correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune, describes the town as "a lovely picturesque place in the Croatian hills, but the atmosphere is far from gay. The peasants are clinging to their land. All but two of the village families have defied local authorities by refusing to join a Red collective."

"The 250 families of Kumrovec are happy about their new tie with the United States; it signifies to them that a beneficent American influence may be exercised on the Communist government."

When I was in Yugoslavia recently, I found the Yugoslav people vigorously pro-American, violently anti-Russian. What is happening is that the United States long has maintained it did not care what kind of government another country had as long as it did not try to force its type of government on the rest of the world.

The people of Yugoslavia are now taking us up on this, and today's ceremony at Chester, N. J., is one indication.

G. I. GRIPE BAG

In order to help enlisted men with their many problems, this column will publish from time to time excerpts from G. I. letters received, and the answers. Names are not published without permission:

"A Bunch of Sailors," Naval Station, San Diego, Calif.—"We feel a grave injustice is being to us, and indirectly to our families, by the recent increases in clothing prices. The ship's store now charges more than double for most articles, whereas our standard maintenance allowance has been increased less than 50 per cent."

Answer—You are absolutely right that the cost of living has shot up in the navy, so that enlisted men must now pay $39.65 for the same overcoat that sold for $17.50 before Korea, $20 for a blanket that previously sold for $7.50 and $16.50 for a jumper that used to sell for $6.70. This column has found that navy clothing prices have increased from 127 to 146 per cent. Yet the monthly clothing allowance for enlisted men has been increased only 20 to 71 per cent, depending upon rank. The real blame, however, rests with the White House for not ordering inflation controls early enough. For, the truth is, the cost to the navy of basic fabrics has shot up even higher than the prices charged in the ship's store.

Lloy Hoppes, Wabash, Indiana—"I am 20 years old, and I am also married. I went to see the recruiting officer today, and he told me that married men could not enlist in the army. We want to help our country just as much as the single men."

Answer—Paradoxically it is true that at the same time the army is crying for more manpower, it will not enlist married men below the grade of sergeant, though it will draft them. This is something the army ought to explain to Congress. But if you wait around long enough, you may be drafted and still get a chance to serve.

A Noncommissioned Officer, Keesler Air Base, Mass.—"On Saturday, March 10, the NCO's were told if they did not become members of the NCO club by midnight, they would be restricted to the field. Yet an air force regulation plainly states that membership in an NCO club will be voluntary."

Answer—Brig. Gen. J. F. Powell, Keesler's commanding officer, admitted to this column that nonjoiners were restricted on the technicality that they hadn't paid up their dues. He explained that all noncommissioned officers "automatically" belong to the NCO club, therefore those who had not paid their dues were restricted. However, he claimed that any NCO could have got out of this punishment by writing a "letter of resignation" from the club. This still smacks of intimidation and coercion to push the NCO's into a club which they weren't required to join. The real reason, this column has learned, was to collect the $1 membership fees sorely needed since the slot machines were abolished. This cut out the club's main revenue.

Ain't It Wonderful What a Spring Moon Will Do?

Clamor To Do Something About Crime Arises In Cities And Towns In U. S.

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

If Congress listens to the voice of the American people, something will be done to cure the ills uncovered by the RFC and the Kefauver investigations.

Something will have to be done, because there is a clamor for action rising from big cities and small villages alike.

This demand for a positive step is evident from a survey of workers, businessmen and housewives in large and small cities just made by NEA Service. It is also evident from the "fan mail" received by the Kefauver Committee.

Almost every person questioned said the two investigations had indicated there was "widespread corruption" in government and in American life. Many of them said they knew it all along, but the investigations brought the dirty dealings out in the open.

"Anybody who has read about the RFC hearings," said James Herbert, Memphis, Tenn., rubber worker, "couldn't deny it (corruption). We know these things happen, but it takes something like this to bring it out to the people."

In a similar vein, Mrs. Earl Winsor, a Binghamton, N. Y., housewife, said, "Oh, I don't think crime and corruption have been any worse than they have ever been. They have just been brought out by newspapers, radio and television recently in the big investigations."

In agreement was Mrs. Horstene Harding, of San Francisco, who said: "The crime investigation has uncovered many things that we sort of suspected. I don't think the corruption is worse now than it was before, but now people know about it."

"The Kefauver findings," said Chicago tavern owner William Deas, "indicate that corruption is common, so common that the public doesn't get excited about it. Americans, especially in big cities, have become used to corruption and are almost tolerant of it."

Demas was in the minority when he said the public wasn't excited, however. While the Kefauver Committee was in New York, it averaged between 2200 and 2500 letters per day from excited readers and listeners.

Their excitement was evident from their letters.

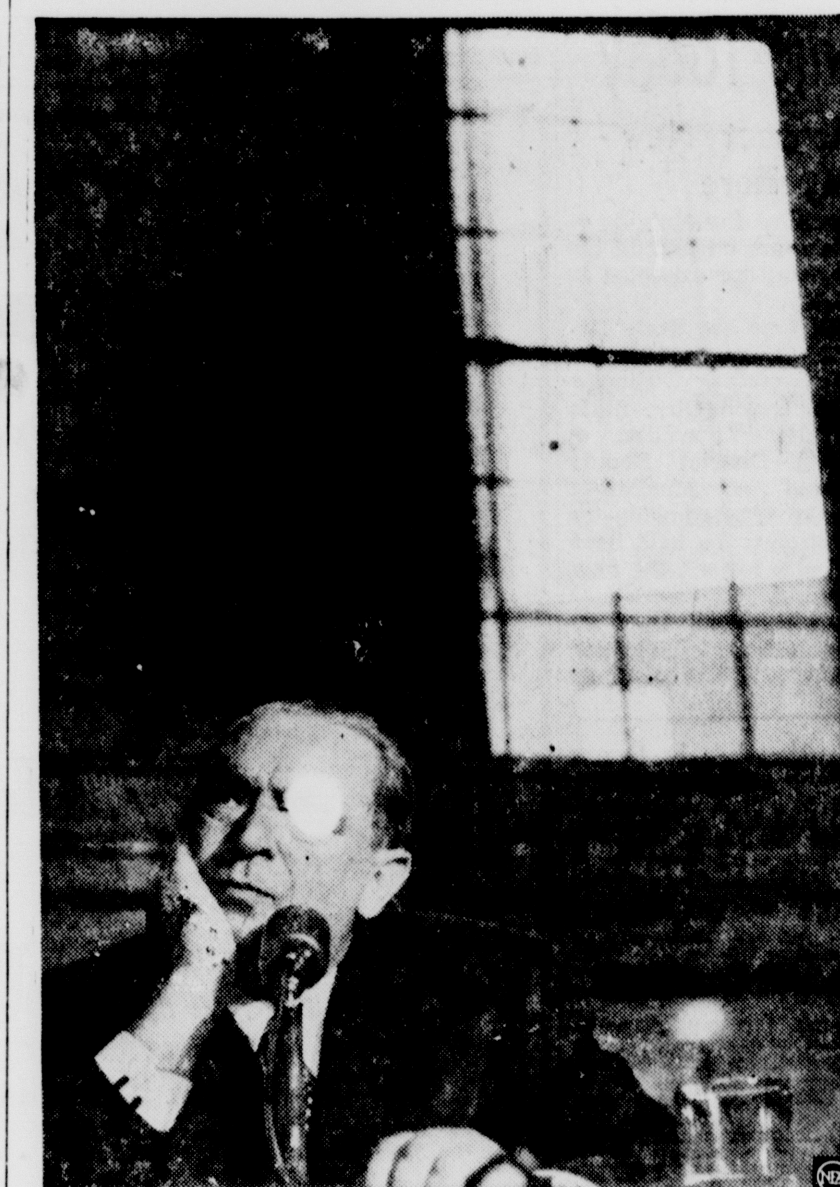

"May the voices of the American people be heard crying in righteous indignation," wrote a Grosse Ile, Mich., woman.

"It (the hearings) makes me feel as though we have actually touched rock bottom," said a man in Waterbury, Conn.

"Ferret out this scum as Costello, Adonis, Anastasia and their ilk . . . what a sad day has dawned on America." This on an unpostmarked postcard.

A letter from Philadelphia addressed to Sen. Charles Tobey of the committee read, in part: "Please forgive all the mistakes (in the letter). I am watching television, painting, cooking dinner and you have just spoke and row I am crying."

All persons surveyed were asked: "What do you believe should be done about the corruption?" The answers showed a wide selection of possible remedies.

LIGHT AND SHADOW: Sunlight in the tall courtroom window forms a backdrop for Ambassador William O'Dwyer, former New York mayor, in this dramatic picture made by Arthur Rickerby, NEA-Acme staff photographer, as O'Dwyer appeared before the Senate Crime Investigating Committee. The window also symbolizes the light the investigation has thrown on crime and corruption in America, arousing public reaction.

"I think they've got to catch the ring-leaders and punish them," said the service manager of a Cleveland, O., motor car agency.

"Committees to investigate such corruption should operate in all city, state and federal governments. Criminals should be hounded and put away. Gambling should be legalized." That three-fold program came from a Chicago housewife.

"The voters ought to smite down a lot of politicians and elect better public officials," said Moses Olney, of San Francisco. "And I don't mean to suggest that either major political party has a monopoly on corruption. The public ought to insist on better candidates from both parties."

Stanley F. Wear, a Fillmore, Calif., businessman, had this suggestion: "Raise your children to be honest; be honest yourself."

"The people are totally responsible" in the opinion of Mrs. R. Hudson Vunk of Memphis. "We have a state of apathy which provides the responsibility for gangsters in control. The investigation should continue and the proper prosecuting agencies should go on and do something."

There were, of course, dissenters to the general trend in the survey. A Binghamton, N. Y., grocer, Benjamin Mendolla, did not think either investigation had turned up evidences of widespread corruption. "I believe," said Mendolla, "everything is okay right now."

Another view came from James Blackwell, a Santa Ana, Calif., carpenter. "There is probably widespread corruption in American life," he said, "if you consider that the man who makes an illegal bet . . . is just as guilty as the men who sit back and count up the profits. But corruption takes in a lot; there are a lot of laws. I stop by the beer hall for a quick one en route home and am delayed 10 minutes. I tell the wife I was delayed on the job. I guess that makes me corrupted."

"The RFC investigation," said San Francisco housewife Mrs. Burton K. Wines, "has disclosed favoritism, rather than widespread corruption."

Two letters to the Kefauver Committee showed that not everyone was sold on its purposes.

"The whole America listens to this investigation," wrote a New Yorker. "Most likely the whole world listens. It makes Mr. Stalin very happy." The letterwriter didn't elaborate any further.

For most people, however, the twin investigations were a revelation. And, for most people, they are a signal that something must be done. Several persons said they were going to do something themselves. That attitude was summed up by a letter-writer from Bogota, N.J., who wrote: "For one will take a greater interest in politics."

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

COMING BACK—Tons of smelt have been taken this winter by pound netters from the waters of Little Bay de Noc. The smelt are coming back. Fishermen estimate there are twice as many now as there were a year ago.

This means that all signs point to a highly populous smelt spawning run on Delta county streams this spring. Smelt fishermen will be happy.

It doesn't take much to make a smelt fisherman happy—a few smelt, a roaring fire on the river bank, a dip net without holes, and the companionship of men to whom time and money mean nothing.

A bumper smelt run harks back to the good old prewar days of 1940 when life was simpler and smelt carnivals were annually exciting adjuncts of spring.

SETTING A TREND—The return of the smelt may also indicate a general lessening of tensions accompanying world events, or a possible means of escape from their reality.

Admittedly smelt have nothing to do with Joe Stalin, or Stalin with smelt, although it was President Truman who yelled red herring when a movement was started to dip the Commies out of the Washington stream.

It is our observation, nonetheless, that you can't have a successful smelt carnival without smelt. Likewise the casting of nets to trap infiltrating Communists is a flop unless there are Communists to catch. And the Kefauver committee even killed some startlingly large and ugly specimens when it fished for criminals.

All of these developments had some carnival aspects that pleased the crowd. Let's hope the 1951 Escanaba smelt jam-boree will be equally successful.

NO DULL MOMENTS—Prior to World War II there were carnivals, jamborees, fiestas, parades and other events in connection with the spring smelt spawning run.

It was just what the doctor ordered to reduce the mass tensions of the populace. A man can't dip smelt, a girl compete for the title of smelt queen, or a community plan a smelt carnival without forgetting (at least temporarily) the grim realities of life.

There is an excitement accompanying smelt jamborees that will not be denied. People gather in crowds in the early spring on streets and smelt streams to shiver with enjoyment and the cold.

There is never a dull moment at a smelt carnival. Everyone keeps moving. They have to or they would freeze stiffer than dip net handles.

THE HAPPY TIME—Yes, thoughts of smelt carnivals recall earlier and happier times when no community worth its name would not be sponsoring some sort of celebration.

There were blueberry, peach, sheep, cotton, rose, cherry, potato and diverse other fiestas. Perhaps Escanaba is passing up a bet in not sponsoring a walleye festival. Then we could have a walleye queen.

SMELT ECONOMICS—When the Escanaba smelt carnival hits the local scene Saturday, April 14, there will be a considerable number of visitors.

Among them will be several hundred folks from Chicago, coming here on a C&NW special train. Undoubtedly they will want to eat, drink, and sleep, which will provide some additional cash from outside to the local bars and beereries.

Altogether the lowly smelt does right well by Escanaba. Besides providing revenue to the commercial fishermen and incidental profits to dealers in fish, tons of smelt are frozen in storage for later sale to the mink ranchers.

And aside from the economics involved, smelt make a fancy dish to please the palate. Fried crisp and served hot you don't bother about the bones—they are as crunchy and as tasty as potato chips.

WORDS TO WATCH

Q. I've been told on several occasions that height is pronounced "hydh" and heighten is pronounced "hydden." Which is the proper of the two?—Mrs. A. A. R.

A. The erroneous "th" sound often gets into the words height and heighten by association with the companion words length, width, breadth, etc. Be sure to rhyme height with tight, and heighten with tighten.

Q. Should one say "I differ with you" or "I differ from you"?—C. W. P.

Answer: It depends on what you have in mind. Differ with means "disagree with." Differ from expresses "unlikeness, thus: You say she is pretty; but I differ with you. I differ from you in that I am tall while you are short.

Alameda: A radio announcer on one of the big networks always refers to "a momento from this city; we have a little momento from . . ." etc. I have three dictionaries, but can't find the word. What do you say?—Mrs. A. C.

A. "Momento" is Spanish and Italian for "moment." The word which should have been used is memento, "a relic, souvenir, keepsake," pronounced: mee-MEN-toe.

West Los Angeles: What is the preferred pronunciation of the word candelabra?—Mrs. W. F. M.

Answer: According to dictionary consensus it's either KAN-duh-LAY'bruh or KAN-duh-LAH'bruh. However, a third pronunciation is being heard with increasing frequency: KAN-duh-LAB'bruh; and at least one dictionary (Grosset and Dunlap's Word: The New Dictionary) lists KAN-duh-LAB'bruh as an alternative. Note that candelabra is a plural. The singular is candelabrum.

Q. Why are traveling salesmen often referred to as "drummers"?—J. L.

A. Because they went out to drum up business. The term is seldom heard nowadays.

Dipping Into Treasury Big Aim In Washington

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — To build a pipeline into the federal treasury, preferably with sanction of a law cleverly drawn, is the goal of a great many smart men around Washington. Some of their schemes are being exposed by the rash of investigations now going on.

But at the investigation stage the padlock on the barn door has long since been broken and the horse stolen. If the treasury is to be protected—and, incidentally, the taxpayer—the proper start must be made when legislation involving government billions is adopted.

The other day the senate banking and currency committee heard Alexander Summer, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, recommend 100 per cent government insurance for housing loans. This drew down the indignation of Chairman Burnet Maybank of South Carolina. Maybank had previously announced his intention of looking into defense contract provisions which permit industry to write off the cost of new plants by tax reductions in a few years and come out owning a valuable installation paid for by the government.

A Little Old-Fashioned
It goes without saying that Maybank is a staunch defender of private enterprise. But he holds to the apparently old-fashioned notion that private enterprise involves at least some risk, apart from a subsidy or guarantee by government, and also some element of competition.

In this connection, analysis of a housing bill introduced in the House by Representative Jesse Wolcott, Republican, of Michigan shows a remarkable "come and get it" approach. Authorizing $75,000,000 for insured mortgages, the bill provides that on default within one year the mortgagee would receive from the federal housing administration 102.5 per cent of the unpaid balance of the mortgage; in two years he would get 102 per cent, three years 101 per cent, four years 100 per cent and thereafter 99 per cent.

The Wolcott bill, which is said to have been originally intended as a substitute for a defense housing measure killed in the House, also contains extremely liberal tax amortization provisions. According to one study that has been made, the following would be perfectly possible—and legal:

Builder X could have the FHA loans on 60 individual houses for defense workers at $10,000 a house for a total of $600,000. Mr. X doesn't have to put up anything but some raw land and his time. The bank, with up to 102 per cent protection from the FHA, lends the mortgage funds to the builder.

Gets Tax Deduction
After Mr. X has built the house, for purposes of federal income taxes he may get a deduction of $100,000 a year on account of a purely theoretical depreciation in that large amount. If Mr. X has a total taxable income of $200,000 a year, this deduction will be worth to him a net of about $90,000. If the project defaults in five years, Mr. X has a total of $450,000, in effect, paid out to him from the treasury of the United States.

The bank is perfectly content, too, since it earns about $24,000 a year without any risk in view of the FHA insurance. If the project defaults in, say, two years, the bank will have earned about $50,000 in interest and it will get back the $600,000 principal plus $12,000 more to cover any small amount of cost the bank might otherwise have to pay.

The Wolcott bill permits a $9,000 mortgage for a one-family house and an $18,000 mortgage for a two-family dwelling, with increases of $1,200 for each additional bedroom. The comparable figures in a similar bill before Maybank's committee are $8,100, $15,000 and $1,080.

Senator John Sparkman of Alabama put into the record of hearings before the Senate committee an article from the Architectural Forum, one of the Luce publications. This explains how the great boom in apartment houses has been largely financed under FHA's famous section 608. The article, giving figures from before the Korean war, states:

"... That if too many vacancies appear and mortgage payments cannot be made, the United States government may become the owner of up to 2.4 billion dollars' worth of apartment buildings. But nobody else involved in the deal will lose a cent. In fact, they will have made money."

By various devices, according to the article, builders can take up to 12 per cent profit in cash out of a long-term mortgage loan backed up by the taxpayer's credit. "Because the whole 608 program is insulated from the normal forces of a competitive market by government insurance, neither the builder nor the lender need have the slightest concern with whether the apartments being put up so fast today will be vacant tomorrow. Just what this means to building quality can be seen by contrasting 608 sharpshooting with the program of a legitimate equity investor in rental housing like the New York Life Insurance Co. New York Life's chief concern is to build as much long-term 'dividability' value in its development as is possible under current construction costs."

Perhaps the kind of inducements contained in the Wolcott bill are necessary to get defense housing. But no one should be surprised if at some future date still another investigation shows that the government was extraordinarily generous with a few people who knew their way around.

Recovery of strategic metals, such as lead and zinc, from waste piles at smelters by a wartime process known as slag fuming is proving a success.

Clinics Planned For School Bands

Director Revelli To Be In Charge

Clinics for Upper Peninsula high school bandmen are scheduled in five Upper Peninsula cities April 9-13 while the University of Michigan Symphony Band is on its spring tour.

The clinics will follow matinee concerts scheduled for 2:30 p. m., Monday at Sault Ste. Marie, 3 p. m., Tuesday at Iron Mountain, 2 p. m., Wednesday at Iron River, 3 p. m., Thursday in Escanaba and 8 p. m., Friday in Manistiquie. William D. Revelli, director of University of Michigan Bands, said outstanding members of the Symphony Band will conduct instructional clinics after these afternoon concerts. The band also will give evening concerts in each of the five cities.

"Primary objective of the post-matinee clinics is to give assistance to the students of the Upper Peninsula high schools," Revelli said. "The clinics will emphasize problems related to tone production, techniques, articulation, intonation and other elements which would affect the proficiency of high school musicians."

He pointed out that the University of Michigan Band members are seeking to serve the schools by providing specialized and individualized help on the various instruments.

best thing for his country. "But a man's family ought to be sacred."

"There was one columnist who wrote some lies about my family when I was in the Senate and instead of writing him a letter I said him on the phone and I said 'You so and so, if you say another word about my family I'll come down to your office and I'll shoot you'. He hasn't printed a whisper about them since."

Daniels Story Dropped
The columnist wasn't identified. But he recalled the language the president employed later in writing to Paul Hume, Washington post music critic, who criticized Margaret Truman's singing.

The president's sometimes earthy language has drawn protests in the past. But that criticism hasn't approached the controversy which might have broken out over the proposal to change congressional election rules. Lawmakers generally dismissed the incident with a chuckle after Joseph H. Short, White House press secretary, denied a story by Jonathan Daniels. He had written that the president favors election of House members every four years at the same time a president is chosen and a 12-year limit on terms of service for both representatives and senators.

Singing Mouse Peggy Becomes Sensation At Michigan State

EAST LANSING—(AP)—A mezzo-soprano mouse named Peggy—diminutive for Margaret—has become a singing sensation at Michigan State college.

Peggy, a pretty and appealing gray mouse (mus musculus), actually can sing according to Earle Harrison, of the college zoology department.

"She'll start out a little bit soft and shy but as she gets excited she'll trill just like a canary and has a range of notes over a full octave," Harrison said.

Peggy already has made her professional debut, over college radio station WKAR.

In case Peggy's singing ability is hereditary, zoology department men plan to marry off Peggy to a personable boy mouse. By controlled breeding of any offspring the college has hopes of developing a strain of musical mice.

The spring schedule generally does not go into effect until April 16.

Relief Chiselers Laws Proposed

Senate Revives Bills Voided Last Year

LANSING—(AP)—The Republican Senate began its second attempt yesterday to enact laws curbing relief "chiselers."

It passed and sent to the House four bills which the legislature had passed a year ago. These were declared void by Governor Williams because they were not covered by his message calling the lawmakers into special session.

The most controversial measure requires relief applicants to prove they cannot get any other assistance before they are granted relief. Such assistance might include unemployment compensation, alimony, arrests for desertion and similar acts.

The Senate eliminated a provision which would have required relief applicants call on their relatives for financial help first.

Another bill permits the state to audit county relief operations and withhold state funds if the local governments are not abiding by their own standards of relief eligibility.

A third bill requires state administrative board approval before the state can contribute more than 50 per cent of a county's relief costs.

Worker Sues Plant; Claims Chemical Took Away His Manhood

JERSEY CITY, N. J. — (AP)—A Bayonne, N. J., chemical worker, who claims his job changed him from a man to a woman, wants $450,000 in damages.

In a suit filed yesterday against Specific Pharmaceuticals, Inc., of Bayonne, 32-year-old John Stepnowski asked $300,000 and his wife, Mary, $150,000.

He charged he was "poisoned by a substance which brought about emasculation, or transformation of his gender from masculine to feminine and, as a result, has been rendered impotent."

Stepnowski's complaint, filed in Hudson county court, said he inhaled particles of stilbestrol, a chemical containing female sex hormones, while working at the Specific plant in November and December of 1950.

His suit also contended that other particles were absorbed through his pores and that the injury has affected his earning power and mental attitude.

Latter Day Saints Church Leader Dies In Salt Lake City

SALT LAKE CITY — (AP)—George Albert Smith, the kindly, soft spoken eighth president of the Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) church died at 7:27 p. m. (9:27 P. M. EST) last night at his Salt Lake City home.

Death came on his 81st birthday as members of the mighty Mormon empire flocked into Salt Lake City for the church's 121st biennial conference.

President Truman commented that this nation has "lost a great man."

Church president slightly less than six years, Elder Smith had been ill for most of the winter. His health ebbed since he returned from hospital confinement in February.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at the famed, oval domed Mormon Tabernacle on Temple Square, a short distance from the family home where President Smith was born April 4, 1870.

Old Grand Jury Demand Revived

One-Man Crime Quiz Backed By Sigler

LANSING—(AP)—The threat of a constitutional amendment to enact the one-man grand jury system over the legislature's head was made at a public hearing last night.

Former Governor Kim Sigler appeared before the House judiciary committee considering a bill to restore the system.

"The people," he warned, "are not going to sit idly by and not have any method of uncovering crime."

Rep. Howard R. Carroll (R-Mt. Clemens), committee chairman, said he could not predict that the committee would report the bill favorably. He said the 11-member committee lined up with five in favor, five opposed, and one wavering.

The appearance of Sigler, who rode into the governor's chair after serving as special prosecutor for the one-man grand jury in Ingham county, climaxed an evening of heated speeches.

Sigler said the legislature's emasculation of the one-man grand jury system two years ago was "the greatest mistake in the legislature in the last 50 years."

Lansing Lawmakers Asked To Condemn College Draft Test

LANSING — (AP) — Senator Frank Andrews (R-Hillman) proposed today the Michigan legislature condemn President Truman's order allowing draft deferments for college students who pass aptitude tests.

He submitted a resolution which described the order as "class legislation and class treatment of able-bodied citizens who should be called upon impartially to defend the principles of democracy x x x."

The resolution went to committee for study.

Six Boats In, More Coming

Selwood Will Load Out Late Tonight

Six boats will be in Escanaba harbor by tonight waiting for loading at the C&NW docks, with more on the way as the 1951 rush for ore gets under way.

Escanaba is the only ore port now open on the Great Lakes. Ports on Lake Superior are not expected to start shipping ore until late next week because of adverse ice conditions.

The Str. Selwood will be the first to load at Escanaba and will clear late tonight for Cleveland.

Second on the list for loading is the Str. C. C. Conway. Although the first to arrive, the Conway has been held up until Hanna company ore was received here from the mines. The Conway will load 9,000 tons for Cleveland.

Now in port besides the Conway and Selwood are the A. E. Heekin, Burlington, E. J. Block and E. L. Ford, with the Str. Berwind scheduled to come in later today.

Padlocked Argentine Newspaper To Seek High Court Review

BUENOS AIRES — (AP)—Intercession by Argentina's supreme court to combat congressional seizure of La Prensa is being sought by the padlocked newspaper's attorneys.

Argentine law gives the supreme court the right of review over acts of the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the government.

Acting for Mrs. Zelmira Paz De Anchorena, La Prensa's owner, attorneys Manuel Ordonez and Rodolfo Luque sent a formal petition to the congressional committee which has seized the newspaper, asking that it submit its actions to the supreme court.

The petition claimed the committee's Congress-authorized seizure of the paper was unconstitutional.

More Globulin Flown To Injured Boy, 7, With Bleeding Throat

HOUSTON, Tex. — (AP)—The bleeding began again for little Wayne Gideon, fighting for his life.

Today the Red Cross was to fly a dozen more ampules of scarce anti-hemophilic globulin from St. Louis in an effort to save the seven-year-old boy.

Wayne suffers from a rare disease similar to hemophilia, where the blood will not clot. Nearly two weeks ago he fell on a stick and punctured his throat.

Richard Juetten Saw Crash That Killed Anderson

In a letter dated March 25, from Lt. Richard L. Juetten, Perrin Air Force Base, Sherman, Texas, came a grim reminder of a recent tragedy.

Lt. Juetten said, "I hardly know how to start this letter—I just saw something a little while ago that sort of upset me. A kind of realistic reminder of what is actually happening. There were two jets in here over the weekend. They took off about an hour ago. The F-80 made a big circle around and came back to buzz the field. As he crossed the field he waved his wings several times and then started to do a roll. One of his wing tip gas tanks came loose in the roll and threw him out of control. He hit the ground on the side of a hill about one half mile from where we were standing and he was headed straight down. That's all there was. A big, rumbling explosion and immediately the entire area was in flame. We stood there and watched the whole thing. The trucks are out there now, still trying to put the fire out."

Three days later, Lt. Juetten found out that he had witnessed the accident that killed Lt. Daniel Gustav Anderson, son of Mrs. Edith Anderson, 1214 North 22nd street.

Clinics Planned For School Bands

Director Revelli To Be In Charge

Clinics for Upper Peninsula high school bandmen are scheduled in five Upper Peninsula cities April 9-13 while the University of Michigan Symphony Band is on its spring tour.

The clinics will follow matinee concerts scheduled for 2:30 p. m., Monday at Sault Ste. Marie, 3 p. m., Tuesday at Iron Mountain, 3 p. m., Wednesday at Iron River, 3 p. m., Thursday in Escanaba and 8 p. m., Friday in Manistique.

William D. Revelli, director of University of Michigan Bands, said outstanding members of the Symphony Band will conduct instrumental clinics after these afternoon concerts. The band also will give evening concerts in each of the five cities.

"Primary objective of the post-matinee clinics is to give assistance to the students of the Upper Peninsula high schools," Revelli said. "The clinics will emphasize problems related to tone production, techniques, articulation, intonation and other elements which would affect the proficiency of high school musicians."

He pointed out that the University Symphony Band members are seeking to serve the schools by providing specialized and individualized help on the various instruments.

best thing for his country.

"But a man's family ought to be sacred."

"There was one columnist who wrote some lies about my family when I was in the Senate and instead of writing him a letter I called him on the phone and I said 'You so and so, if you say another word about my family I'll come down to your office and I'll shoot you.' He hasn't printed a whisper about them since."

Daniels Story Dropped
The columnist wasn't identified. But he recalled the language the president employed later in writing to Paul Hume, Washington post music critic, who criticized Margaret Truman's singing.

The president's sometimes earthy language has drawn protests in the past. But that criticism hasn't approached the controversy which might have broken out over the proposal to change congressional election rules. Lawmakers generally dismissed the incident with a chuckle after Joseph H. Short, White House press secretary, denied a story by Jonathan Daniels. He had written that the president favors election of House members every four years at the same time a president is chosen and a 12-year limit on terms of service for both representatives and senators.

Singing Mouse Peggy Becomes Sensation At Michigan State

EAST LANSING—(P)—A mezzo-soprano mouse named Peggy—diminutive for Margaret—has become a singing sensation at Michigan State college.

Peggy, a pretty and appealing gray mouse (mus musculus), actually can sing according to Earle Harrison, of the college zoology department.

"She'll start out a little bit soft and shy but as she gets excited she'll trill just like a canary and has a range of notes over a full octave," Harrison said.

Peggy already has made her professional debut, over college radio station WKAR.

In case Peggy's singing ability is hereditary, zoology department men plan to marry off Peggy to a personable boy mouse. By controlled breeding of any offspring the college has hopes of developing a strain of musical mice.

Relief Chiselers Laws Proposed

Senate Revives Bills Voided Last Year

LANSING—(P)—The Republican Senate began its second attempt yesterday to enact laws curbing relief "chiselers."

It passed and sent to the House four bills which the legislature had passed a year ago. These were declared void by Governor Williams because they were not covered by his message calling the lawmakers into special session.

The most controversial measure requires relief applicants to prove they cannot get any other assistance before they are granted relief. Such assistance might include unemployment compensation, alimony, arrests for desertion and similar actions.

The Senate eliminated a provision which would have required relief applicants call on their relatives for financial help first.

Another bill permits the state to audit county relief operations and withhold state funds if the local governments are not abiding by their own standards of relief eligibility.

A third bill requires state administrative board approval before the state can contribute more than 50 per cent of a county's relief costs.

Worker Sues Plant; Claims Chemical Took Away His Manhood

JERSEY CITY, N. J. — (P) — A Bayonne, N. J., chemical worker, who claims his job changed him from a man to a woman, wants $450,000 in damages.

In a suit filed yesterday against Specific Pharmaceuticals, Inc., of Bayonne, 32-year-old John Stepnowski asked $300,000 and his wife, Mary, $150,000.

He charged he was "poisoned by a substance which brought about effemination, or transformation of his gender from masculine to feminine and, as a result, has been rendered impotent."

Stepnowski's complaint, filed in Hudson county court, said he inhaled particles of stilbestrol, a chemical containing female sex hormones, while working at the Specific plant in November and December of 1950.

His suit also contended that other particles were absorbed through his pores and that the injury has affected his earning power and mental attitude.

Latter Day Saints Church Leader Dies In Salt Lake City

SALT LAKE CITY — (P) — George Albert Smith, the kindly, soft spoken eighth president of the Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) church died at 7:27 p. m. (9:27 P. M. EST) last night at his Salt Lake City home.

Death came on his 81st birthday as members of the mighty Mormon empire flocked into Salt Lake City for the church's 121st biennial conference.

President Truman commented that this nation has "lost a great man."

Church president slightly less than six years, Elder Smith had been ill for most of the winter. His health ebbed since he returned from hospital confinement in February.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at the famed, oval domed Mormon Tabernacle on Temple Square, a short distance from the family home where President Smith was born April 4, 1870.

Old Grand Jury Demand Revived

One-Man Crime Quiz Backed By Sigler

LANSING—(P)—The threat of a constitutional amendment to enact the one-man grand jury system over the legislature's head was made at a public hearing last night.

Former Governor Kim Sigler appeared before the House judiciary committee considering a bill to restore the system.

"The people," he warned, "are not going to sit idly by and not have any method of uncovering crime."

Rep. Howard R. Carroll (R-Mt. Clemens), committee chairman, said he could not predict that the committee would report the bill favorably. He said the 11-member committee lined up with five in favor, five opposed, and one wavering.

The appearance of Sigler, who rode into the governor's chair after serving as special prosecutor for the one-man grand jury in Ingham county, climaxed an evening of heated speeches.

Sigler said the legislature's emasculation of the one-man grand jury system two years ago was "the greatest mistake in the legislature in the last 50 years."

Lansing Lawmakers Asked To Condemn College Draft Test

LANSING — (P) — Senator Frank Andrews (R-Hillman) proposed today the Michigan legislature condemn President Truman's order allowing draft deferments for college students who pass aptitude tests.

He submitted a resolution which described the order as "class legislation and class treatment of able-bodied citizens who should be called upon impartially to defend the principles of democracy x x x."

The resolution went to committee for study.

Six Boats In, More Coming

Selwood Will Load Out Late Tonight

Six boats will be in Escanaba harbor by tonight waiting for loading at the C&NW docks, with more on the way as the 1951 rush for ore gets under way.

Escanaba is the only ore port now open on the Great Lakes. Ports on Lake Superior are not expected to start shipping ore until late next week because of adverse ice conditions.

The Str. Selwood will be the first to load at Escanaba and will clear late tonight for Cleveland.

Second on the list for loading is the Str. C. C. Conway. Although the first to arrive, the Conway has been held up until Hanna company ore was received here from the mines. The Conway will load 9,000 tons for Cleveland.

Now in port besides the Conway and Selwood are the A. E. Heekin, Burlington, E. J. Block and E. L. Ford, with the Str. Berwind scheduled to come in later today.

Padlocked Argentine Newspaper To Seek High Court Review

BUENOS AIRES — (P)—Intercession by Argentina's supreme court to combat congressional seizure of La Prensa is being sought by the padlocked newspaper's attorneys.

Argentine law gives the supreme court the right of review over acts of the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the government.

Acting for Mrs. Zelmira Paz de Anchorena, La Prensa's owner, attorneys Manuel Ordóñez and Rudolfo Luque sent a formal petition to the congressional committee which has seized the newspaper, asking that it submit its actions to the supreme court.

The petition claimed the committee's Congress-authorized seizure of the paper was unconstitutional.

More Globulin Flown To Injured Boy, 7, With Bleeding Throat

HOUSTON, Tex. — (P) — The bleeding began again for little Wayne Gideon, fighting for his life.

Today the Red Cross was to fly a dozen more ampules of scarce anti-hemophilic globulin from St. Louis in an effort to save the seven-year-old boy.

Wayne suffers from a rare disease similar to hemophilia, where the blood will not clot. Nearly two weeks ago he fell on a stick and punctured his throat.

Richard Juetten Saw Crash That Killed Anderson

In a letter dated March 25, from Lt. Richard L. Juetten, Perrin Air Force Base, Sherman, Texas, came a grim reminder of a recent tragedy.

Lt. Juetten said, "I hardly know how to start this letter—I just saw something a little while ago that sort of upset me. A kind of realistic reminder of what is actually happening. There were two jets in here over the weekend. They took off about an hour ago. The F-80 made a big circle around and came back to buzz the field. As he crossed the field he waved his wings several times and then started to do a roll. One of his wing tip gas tanks came loose in the roll and threw him out of control. He hit the ground on the side of a hill about one half mile from where we were standing and he was headed straight down. That's all there was. A big, rumbling explosion and immediately the entire area was in flame. We stood there and watched the whole thing. The trucks are out there now, still trying to put the fire out."

Three days later, Lt. Juetten found out that he had witnessed the accident that killed Lt. Daniel Gustav Anderson, son of Mrs. Edith Anderson, 1214 North 22nd street.

Sick Get Energy From Peanut Oil

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter
BOSTON—(P)—One glass of a new milky drink gives sick people the energy from three pieces of pie with ice cream.

The drink is peanut oil, homogenized like milk. It has a sweet, milky taste, tinged with peanut flavor. One pint gives you 2,000 calories. That's about two-thirds the daily energy needs of the average man.

The fat drink works like a charm in supplying energy and helping people gain weight, Dr. Frederick J. Stare, chairman of the nutrition department, Harvard School of Public Health, reports in the Journal of the American Dietetic association. The emulsion is made by Upjohn company, Kalamazoo, Mich., under the tradename Lipomul.

An eight-ounce glass of it gives a person 1,000 calories, equal to three pieces of pie a la mode.

The fat drink has been tested on 300 patients and 50 normal volunteers, Dr. Stare said. The patients were men and women who needed building up before or after an operation, who had little appetite, or who were emaciated by tuberculosis, arthritis and other diseases.

They gained from one to 22 pounds in a short time on the fat drink. Some gained a pound in the first two days, drinking a half pint daily.

Hospital patients often have poor appetites and nibble at food, getting perhaps only 1,200 calories a day, Dr. Stare said. The fat drink gives them the additional fuel they need. The drink also helps children who fail to eat enough.

It is taken between meals, or early in the evening. Drinking it just before going to bed might give you a stomach ache, just as from overloading with pie or other rich food.

Alaska To Maine Sled Drive Ends After 17 Months

LEWISTON, Me.—(P)—Bewhiskered Cecil A. (Mush) Moore and his huskies trotted in triumph into his home city of Lewiston Wednesday, ending a sled drive that began 17 months ago in the snows of Alaska.

Lewiston Auburn Lions club saluted the 40-year-old wayfarer at the end of his 6,000 mile trek, believed the longest dogsled journey in history.

Moore's battered sled creaked along on wheels over pavement that hasn't worn snow for weeks. One of Moore's dogs rode the sled. She gave birth to nine pups at a Portland stop Saturday.

Moore undertook his cross-country journey to raise money for the Lions' underprivileged children fund.

All the way from Alaska the trip was a triumph over nature. Moore originally planned to cover the 6,000 miles in 120 days.

But he didn't count on frigid Alaskan temperatures, sizzling Minnesota heat, a siege of gripple, 40 pups born to his sled dogs during the trip, or an attack by wolves in Canadian wilderness.

Sam Michael, past president of the Lions club, said sale of cachet envelopes carried on Moore's sled will raise a fund, as planned. Also Moore plans a lecture tour.

Carpenter Says He's Now Really "Rarin' to Go!"

How bad can things get? After all when your job is carpentry and requires lots of climbing up and down in all kinds of weather, you can't be bogged down, slowed to a walk, by aches and pains. Your job suffers, your interest in life suffers, and you start feeling years older than you are.

When Mr. T. G. Pude Morlan, Rural Route No. 1, Monett, Missouri, ran into just this situation, though, he decided to act fast, get back on the road to feeling right again. He'd heard how HADACOL had helped folks who were suffering aches and pains caused by a lack of Vitamins B, B₁₂, Niacin and Iron and he decided to see what it would do for him. The wonderful results of this decision can only be told properly in Mr. Morlan's own written words, sent to us voluntarily.

He says: "Just a line in regard to HADACOL. I am a carpenter by trade, have worked out in all kinds of weather which lately caused me considerable aches and pains and stiffness. I started taking HADACOL, so today, I am on my eighth bottle and am working every day. I am 58 years old and can climb up and down on my job. I have a good appetite, sleep good at night and I wake up mornings raring to go. I started feeling better when I had taken but 4 bottles. So I intend to go or taking your wonderful product. I have recommended HADACOL to all my friends, and I have four who told me they would give it a trial at once. So, as I am very well known in and around Monett, Missouri, you are welcome to use my name in any way as you choose in regard to your wonderful product."

So the letters go, day after

Out of town Scouts also are on the program. Miss Alice Griffith, Milwaukee, will tell her experiences at a Western Hemisphere Girl Scout camp; Miss Nola Bottger of Nebraska, who has managed camps in Hawaii and a life camp for underprivileged in New York City and who is to go to Europe this summer as an exchange counselor, will share her experiences with the girls; Miss Tynne Parvainen, Ishpeming, who spent last summer in a Finnish Girl Guide camp, will tell of her camping trip with them.

Presentation of a picture of pioneer camping by a panel of eight Rhinelander Scouts will be a conference highlight. They will be accompanied to Gladstone by their leader, Mrs. Charles Gibson of Rhinelander. Their pioneer camp was at Birchrock near Rhinelander last year. It is said to be one of the outstanding camps of its type in the middle west.

Sue D'Amour, Leader

Although international friendship and camping are the main themes of the conference, other 'girl interests' have not been overlooked. The Marquette Marine troop not only will conduct the flag ceremony in the morning but tell of its work and plans as Gladstone, will tell of her own a mariner troop. Kay DeHooghe, service troop and the work it has done. The Wing troop of Houghton is registered, too, and will take part in the program.

Planning the conference has taken many hours of painstaking work. It is of the Senior Scouts own designing, almost completely, although a few adults are consultants. Sue D'Amour, Gladstone, is conference leader and on the planning board with her are Janet Sinclair, Gladstone, Katie Walch and Betty Leiper, Escanaba, and LaVona French and Peggy Phalen, Nahma.

Dr. Frye also addressed students of Gladstone high school on Wednesday afternoon.

The district conference closed last evening with a meeting of the board of education at which the summer camp program, vacation church schools and the organization of sub districts were among the matters discussed.

Royer had won the first half schedule and DeMenter the second half and the playoff preceded the banquet which wound up the event.

Andy Vargo's team lost to Clyde Alworden's 46 to 75 and with the defeat went the penalty of kitchen duty.

Along with the awarding of the trophy, prizes were awarded to members of the DeMenter team for winning in the second half and consolation awards also were made to members of Vargo's crew.

Liberal Fund Giving Urged

Cancer Campaign Head Makes Plea

In connection with the cancer drive, now underway in Schoolcraft county, the following statement has been issued by Russell Watson, campaign director:

"This month of April, as has been customary for a number of years, has again been especially designated as a month of intensified activity in our drive against the terrible ravages of cancer, and again we come to you with our pleas for financial aid.

"The fund raising campaign is carried on by unpaid neighborhood workers who generously and unselfishly give of their time and efforts to this important work.

"The prevention and cure of cancer, which is our second worst killer of mankind, is largely one of patient and continuous research by hundreds of skilled scientists. It is not spectacular, but its importance is great.

"Of the money which will be subscribed in Schoolcraft county, half goes to the national research program. Only about one and a half pennies out of each dollar go for administration—a remarkably low percentage.

"The other half of the money which is subscribed stays for the use of our local community. Part of it helps to defray the cost of the Upper Peninsula Cytology laboratory where early diagnosis of cancer may be obtained. This is a free service to all doctors and patients, and we are proud of it and very pleased to be a part of it.

"Part of the money will be used by unpaid workers to provide dressings and comfort to cancer patients. Our Schoolcraft County Cancer Society provides two hospital beds and a free loan closet of sick room equipment for those afflicted. It carries on a continuous year around program of education particularly in regard to early detection of cancer. To this end, for example, the moving picture concerning breast cancer has been shown to nearly all of the women of our county.

"When you give to conquer cancer, your money becomes a weapon to help in the battle against one of mankind's greatest scourges. We ask you to be generous."

The goal this year is $1,400 it is announced by local cancer officials.

Army Intelligence Is Discussed By Speaker

The strategic and tactical phases of army intelligence were discussed by Robert J. Kline, local editor, at a regular meeting of the Manistique Lions club Tuesday night.

The speaker told how army intelligence, collecting and assembling information, prepared the way for the Normandy invasion and the subsequent sweep through France into Germany.

The function of intelligence, he pointed out, is not to ascertain what an enemy is going to do—that is obviously impossible—but it assembles information on enemy forces, plans, equipment and movements, and from this data endeavors to predict what the enemy may do under varying circumstances.

An example of the functioning of army intelligence, he said, was the crossing of the Siegfried line during the last war. Intelligence had obtained from Dutch engineers who worked on the defense project the construction style and firing angles of the various Siegfried pill-boxes, with this information it was simple to blast key defense points, and permit allied tanks to plunge through the supposedly impregnable line in comparative ease.

The speaker also sharply criticized a current tendency in the United States to grant educational deferments from military service. Under the plan of educational deferments it appears that the more you know or the smarter you are, the less obligation you owe to the defense of your country; he said. Conversely the less you know the more you are required to do for defense.

History records that all nations which have followed such a deferment plan have eventually found that the system led to national ruin. "You can't place service to country on an intellectual snobbish plane," he said, "and exist as a nation." The obligations of patriotism must be evenly distributed, with no less service being required of the educated than of the uneducated, he concluded.

Kline was introduced by Frank Gierke.

Symphony Band Different From Marching Group

What makes the University of Michigan symphony band, scheduled to appear in a concert at Manistique on April 13, different from the marching band which performs at football games?

There are three major differences, according to the director, William D. Revelli. They are:

1. Personnel; 2. Instrumentation; 3. The type of music performed.

As to personnel, Revelli pointed out that the symphony band is made up of both men and women students while the marching band is limited to men. In addition, since the symphony band is a credit course in the School of Music the membership always contains a considerable number of students majoring in music.

The differences in instrumentation between the football field and the concert hall are considerable. There are flutes, oboes and bassoons and also a contra bassoon in the symphony band. "Three types of clarinets are used, alto, bass and contra bass, while the marching band uses only B flat clarinets. Bass and baritone saxophones appear in the symphony band while the football field calls for only the tenor and alto types of this instrument."

The University of Michigan symphony band is one of the few to use a contra bassoon. Other instruments which contribute to a different tonal quality in the symphony band are French horns, Flugel horns (a contralto cornet), string bass, harp and such additions to the percussion section as marimba, xylophone and typani.

Where the marching band limits itself pretty much to marches and popular songs, the symphony band features a variety of types of music. Overtures, symphonic poems, stirring marches, suites and modern works are usually blended into the program so that the musical tastes of any audiences are certain to be covered by the selections.

Revelli also schedules the programs so that the members of the band can be featured either in solo or ensemble numbers.

Garden Pushes Cutter Project

Seek Support On Coast Guard Plan

The Garden Peninsula Lions club, which recently approved a resolution requesting assignment of a Coast Guard cutter to Manistique harbor on a permanent basis, is continuing its efforts to obtain support for the plan, it was disclosed in a letter from the club read at a meeting for local Lions Tuesday night.

In addition to various officials and organizations designated in its resolution, the Garden group also is seeking the backing of Lions International.

The resolution passed by the Garden club follows:

"Whereas the northern shore of Lake Michigan extending from St Ignace in the east to Menominee in the southwest is without the services of a United States Coast Guard cutter except by long voyage from Milwaukee or other distant points, and

"Whereas a total of 131 commercial fishing craft operate in this area and over 200 ice fishing and outboard motor licenses are normally issued in this area annually, and

"Whereas an estimated total of 800 trips by cargo ships and pleasure craft are annually made to ports in the Manistique area, and

"Whereas the United States Coast Guard service already holds title to land fronting on Manistique harbor, such land being originally acquired with the idea of establishing a Coast Guard station there; now therefore

"Be it resolved that we do hereby respectfully petition and request the United States Coast Guard service to assign a cutter for service in the area aforementioned, and that such cutter be stationed permanently in the harbor at Manistique, Mich., that harbor being ice free in winter; and

All Peninsula Basketball Team Announced; Kutches on C Quint

A team that could score 1,389 points during the regular season and then come up with 419 more during tournament play would be a "coach's dream" in any basketball league.

Such a quintet has been selected by the Upper Peninsula Sports Writers Association as its all-U. P. basketball team.

Two Class B players, two from Class C and one from Class D are included on the all-star roster, as follows:

Forwards—Jim Mills, of Brimley, and Jerry Mayo, of Baraga.

Center—Terry Thompson, of Ishpeming.

Guards—Lowell Johnson, of Ne-gaunee, and Frank Fazi, of Soo Loretto.

High on the honorable mention list were such outstanding players as Keith Cutler, of Cooks; Carl Nystrom and Bob Redman, of Marquette Graveret, and Dick Weston, of Brimley, but it was felt that the above quintet was almost flawless and their selection by sportswriters meeting in Marquette was unanimous.

Cutler especially received vigorous backing for a post on the all-Peninsula team. He was handicapped, however, by playing with a team that won only five of its 19 schedule and tournament games.

High scorer on the mythical all-

Upper Peninsula team is Mills, whose 559 points during the past season not only broke Brimley's scoring mark but is believed to have set an all-time U. P. record. Observers rated him as one of the most polished forwards they have seen and, although generally thought to be about average on defense, he was a member of a team that held its opponents to less than 39 points a game. Although only 5 feet, 10 inches tall, he easily evaded taller players and was almost "dead" on set shots.

Mills' running mate on the forward line, Mayo, came through with 371 points this season, although he missed two games and played three tournament contests with a cast on his arm. His playing was confined almost exclusively to the Copper Country, but coaches and writers from other sections learned of his ability and in the recent Class C district meet he won widespread attention by almost single-handedly eliminating favored Ontonagon and L'Anse.

Mayo averaged 20.8 points a game this season and he had a 13.8-point average for the four years he played with Baraga. Although guard, he was picked as forward on the all-U. P. team because of that scoring ability. He captained Baraga's team the last two years, was picked as all-Class C and all-tournament guard in 1950 and again in 1951, was on the Copper Country all-star team in those years and this season was picked as the most valuable player in the Copper Country.

One of two juniors on the all-U. P. quintet is Ishpeming's Terry Thompson, gifted pivot artist who was selected for the Detroit Free Press' all-state team late in the season. Thompson's 379 points in 19 games would make him second to Mills on the mythical quintet.

More than any other member of the select five, Soo Loretto's Fazi was regarded as a "one-man team," but it was felt that he would be only part of a championship machine when teamed with Negaunee's Johnson at guard and with Thompson, Mayo and Mills up front. In fact, except for Johnson and Mills, the five honored players are capable of filling any position far above average.

Fazi scored 243 points during the regular season, then counted 68 while leading Soo Loretto through one district, two regional and the state quarter-final game. Johnson, least publicized player of the five and the lowest scorer with 189 points, was chosen entirely for his defensive ability. He was an expert on rebounds during the season and many believed it was his play that was largely responsible for the Negaunee Miners upsetting Ishpeming in the district championship game to end the Hematites' 26-game consecutive win streak.

Although the five players are from only three counties (Marquette, Chippewa and Baraga), and other sections of the Peninsula had their outstanding cagers, opinion was unanimous among the writers that it would be difficult to improve the selections.

As far as all-star teams by classes were concerned, only one team placed more than one player. That was Michigamme, Class E. Peninsula and state champion, whose Forest Perry and Phil Nummen were selected for the all-star honor.

Thompson and Johnson won places on the all-Class B team, along with Carl Nystrom, of Marquette, and Glen Hultquist, of Iron Mountain, forwards, and Bob Blomley, of Ironwood, center. Thompson was moved down to guard on this team.

The Class C team also contained Mayo and Fazi, in addition to Don Anderson, Norway forward; Erland Maki, Crystal Falls center, and Pete Kutches, Escanaba St. Joseph guard.

Cooks' Keith Cutler was teamed with Mills at forward on the Class D team, with Gwinn's Gerald Erickson, center, and Paul Ringuette, of Republic, and Eugene Lombardini, of Vulcan, filling the other posts.

Four of the best Class E teams in the Peninsula were represented on the all-E quintet, with Michigamme placing Forest Perry at center and Phil Nummen at guard. The others were Orville Larscheid, of Nahma, and John Hicks, of Trenary, forwards, and Bob Ball, of Alpha, guard.

PHENOMS—Baseball men agree Outfielder Mickey Mantle, 19, left, of the Yankees is the most imagination-firing recruit to come up in a decade. With less than a season of D league ball behind him, everyone who looks at him is convinced that the 18-year-old left-hand pitcher, Bill Hoelt, will stick with the Tigers. (NEA Photo)

Minors May Boost Morale Of Tigers

MEMPHIS, Tenn. —(P)—Bring on the minors—perhaps as a morale booster for the Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers, traveling northward toward their American league's opening day game, could only hope that the coming seven games with minor league clubs would be more encouraging than their Florida stay.

Against major league opposition Detroit won only four games out of 16. Three of the wins were over national league teams.

The Memphis Chiefs, first of the farm clubs that the Tigers take on, will entertain Red Rolfe's men in a three-game series starting tomorrow.

The Bengals broke camp at Lakeland, Fla., yesterday and devoted most of today to traveling. They will wind up in Detroit April 17 for the season's opener against the Cleveland Indians.

Despite the dismal showing in Florida, Manager Rolfe hasn't been seriously concerned about the Tigers' inability to hit. He pointed out that consistent hitters like Hoot Evers and Vic Wertz are likely to come under when the season gets underway.

Rolfe could also look with some pleasure at the batting of shortstop Johnny Lipon and first baseman Don Kolloway.

Lipon has been going great guns with a .351 average on 20 hits—a homer, six doubles and 13 singles. He also has driven in 14 runs and seems set for a fine start this season.

Kolloway, who seems to have won his battle with Dick Kryhoski for the starting spot at first base, has hit around .300 in exhibition games and ranks second among the Tiger regulars in the matter of base hits, total bases and batting average.

Links Clan Rallies To Watch Masters O' Augusta Course

By STERLING SLAPPEY
 AUGUSTA, Ga. —(P)—The golfing clan rallied here today to watch the opening of the race for 1951's first major title—the Masters.

For the next four days 48 professionals and 16 amateurs compete against each other as well as against the Augusta national course, a versatile layout which makes a golfer stop, look and think before he fires away.

The national is a 6,900-yard course which many golfers and course architects consider the finest inland layout in the country. Par is evenly broken between the nine—36-36-72.

Who will win this 15th Masters? The winner probably will be the guy who shoots a 280 or 281 during the 72-hole tournament.

Last year Jimmy Demaret took the title for the third time and gave the national another name—Demaret's dreamland. Jimmy won with a 283, but in a way he backed out of the championship.

Jim Ferrier had the Masters just about sacked and tied until it slipped out of the bag on the last six holes when he blew sky high.

Now Big Jim Ferrier again is a pick just as he was before the final round last April. His is the hottest streak of golf in many a year. In five tournaments he's won three times and finished second twice.

And Australia Jim might win this one. He's a putter of the Bobby Jones and Horton Smith rank and putting is important here.

Defending champions usually get a lot of notice as the favorite to repeat. But jovial Jimmy Demaret isn't getting much this time. The memory of his poor golf this winter lingers and his chances of winning again are slim.

Odds Against Bruins In Toronto Series
 BOSTON —(P)—With the odds definitely against them the Boston Bruins leave today for Toronto to play the Maple Leafs Saturday night in the continuing semifinals of the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup series.

The Leafs have a 2-1 edge in victories and two of the next three (if necessary) games in the best-of-seven match are carded for Toronto ice.

Bruins, however, stormily rejected any suggestion they should be counted out.

"We haven't been outplayed yet," challenged Coach Lynn Patrick, "and if we can get the breaks instead of having them go the other way we can win."

Old Joe Louis Back Where He Started In Title Challenge

By JOE IVES
 WASHINGTON —(P)—Joe Louis, the aging brown bomber from Detroit, is back where he was 14 years ago in the national boxing association ratings.

The 47-state boxing body last night rated the former champion as the only logical contender for Ezzard Charles' heavyweight crown.

This is the same place he stood in 1937 when Jimmy Braddock was champion. Louis won the title that year from Braddock and never moved down in the rankings until he lost to Charles while trying to regain his title.

Charles had won Louis' crown in an NBA-recognized bout with Joe Walcott after Louis had abdicated.

Jersey Joe Moves Up
 Joe was only an outstanding boxer in the NBA's last quarterly rankings. With him then was Lee Savold.

Now with Louis back in the logical contender slot, Savold, Jersey Joe Walcott and Rex Layne are listed as outstanding boxers.

It was a step forward for both Jersey Joe and the power-punching Layne from Lewiston, Utah, who were honorable mentions last time.

Rocky Marciano and Roland La Starza still head the honorable mention list this quarter but Argentina's Cesar Brion is missing.

The only other big jump in the ratings was scored by the west coast light-heavyweight Harry Matthews. He was moved up from the second-ranking outstanding boxer to the No. 2 contender for Joe Maxim's title.

The NBA extended recognition to Maxim as the light-heavy king but noted his rating was only "conditional."

It said the NBA executive committee will announce shortly, probably next week, whether Maxim and lightweight champion Ike Williams will be stripped of their crowns for failure to defend them within the time allotted by the NBA last February.

Both men were told then to lay their titles on the line by March 31, 1951.

LaMotta Takes Drop
 The biggest drop in the new ratings was that of former middleweight king Jake LaMotta, who lost his crown to Sugar Ray Robinson in the past quarter. LaMotta was dropped from champ to outstanding boxer. He was ranked along with Dave Sands of Australia and France's Laurent

Dauthuille. Otherwise the NBA listed Cuba's Kid Gavilan and Eddie Thomas of England the top opponents for Johnny Brattory's NBA-version welterweight title. Willie Pep was the logical contender for featherweight king Sandy Saddler's title and Luis Romeo of Spain, ex-champ Manuel Ortiz of California and England's Peter Keenan were the top men in line for the bantamweight crown held by Vic Toweel of South Africa. Terry Allen of England and Jean Sneyers of Belgium were considered the contenders for Dado Marino's flyweight diadem.

Wrist Heals; Dropt Rejoins Red Sox

BOSTON —(P)—Encouraged by a doctor's opinion he should be able to start the American league season April 17 Walt Dropt left today to rejoin his Boston Red Sox mates in Augusta, Ga.

The big first baseman suffered a hairline fracture in a wrist bone last Sunday and first reports were that he would be out for four to eight weeks. Physicians revised that opinion yesterday.

Reds First Baseman Tough Boy In Clutch

By RALPH RODEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
 Ted (The Brute) Kluszewski, 26-year-old first baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, is going to be a tough customer in the clutch this season if his Grapefruit league booming is any criterion.

Kluszewski, hailed by friend and foe alike as one of the coming sluggers of the game, is whaling the ball for the Reds at extremely opportune moments.

The former star end at the University of Indiana drove in all of Cincinnati's runs yesterday as the Reds defeated Washington, 3-0, at Orlando, Fla.

Kluszewski doubled with the bases loaded in the third inning off Lefty Bob Kuzava, and veteran Ken Raffensberger made the markers stand up as he blanked the Nats on five hits. Raffensberger is the first Cincinnati pitcher to go the route this spring.

Bombers Get 16 Runs

Besides his sensational hitting, Kluszewski has improved greatly as a fielder. The strapping 230-pound, six-foot-two giant has been working overtime to perfect his fielding.

Red Wings Out For Win No. 3

DETROIT —(P)—Back in the favorite's hole, the Detroit Red Wings will be going all out tonight to put a quick finish to their semi-final Stanley Cup playoff series with Montreal.

The National Hockey league champions got a bad scare when the youthful, hustling Canadiens pulled a couple of overtime victories out of the fire to start off the crucial series last week.

But the Wings went to hockey-mad Montreal and calmly took over, winning game No. 3 a 2-0 score Saturday night and coming through 4-1 Tuesday.

In both games the Wings' steady assaults—a wealth of experience and plenty of strength behind the front line—showed up strongly.

So the experts were quick to re-install Tommy Ivan's well-balanced crew in the role of more likely to succeed in the current best-of-seven series. The winner will go on to the finals, meeting the victor of the Toronto-Boston series.

However, the Canadiens are remembering the Wing's impotency on Olympia ice in the first two games, and their big hope is to keep that charm working.

Waiting for tonight's big one, both teams are hiding out in Toledo, O., to catch a bit of rest. They arrived in Detroit yesterday from Montreal and promptly headed south for the Ohio city.

Harold Titus Quits As Menominee Coach

MENOMINEE, Mich.—Harold Titus, Menominee high school basketball coach and assistant in football for the past two years, has resigned effective at the end of the school year.

Titus' resignation was submitted to the board of education at a regular meeting yesterday along with five other resignations by teachers in the Menominee school system.

Supt. Miles W. Robinson said Titus resigned because he was interested in returning to Wisconsin and would prefer a post as head football and basketball coach at a smaller school.

Titus' basketball team won the district tournament but lost in the Upper Peninsula semi-final round in Class B two years ago, bowing to Ironwood by one point, 45-44. This year his cagers were upset by Escanaba in the opening game of the tournament. His basketball record was 12 wins and 24 losses over the two-year span.

Titus was assistant to Coach Ken Radick in football and he also taught science.

Simmons Denies He Quit At Cleveland

HOUSTON, Tex. —(P)—The announced resignation of Coach Al Simmons and then his denial that he had quit the Cleveland Indians' camp in a puzzle today.

Simmons said he hadn't written a letter of resignation and didn't intend to. But he declared "as far as I'm concerned, I'm through and that's that."

Tribe Manager Al Lopez said he was surprised by Simmons' statement. He had reported earlier that the third base coach quit because of illness.

Yesterday Simmons told reporters that he had "just asked permission to leave for a while so I could go see my personal physician."

Simmons came to the Indians at the start of last season after serving as a coach with the Philadelphia Athletics. He was one of baseball's greatest hitters during his playing career.

Bob Ruark Says

College Deferment Plan Insult To Poor Suckers

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—It seems we have now seen everything. Lo, behold and forsooth, we now have a poor man's war, a draft in which the college man is mainly exempt from exposure to the military, and a brand-new caste system in the country.

Our president, in his wisdom, has ordered deferment from military service for young men who are passing their work in college, and shortly will subject other young men to special aptitude tests with an eye to deferment if they are smart enough to make a certain grade, as yet unannounced.

RUARK

Of course, if a man is too poor to entertain the idea of college, or not spiritually attuned to higher education, he is still draft meat. Fall in, bum, you're in the army now. We draft the Al Smiths, in other words, and exempt the Alger Hisses.

This, finally, seems to be as gross a violation of individual rights as has come down the pike lately. To choose a soldier on a basis of educational opportunity is almost, if not quite, as unfair a proposition as drafting only redheaded, blue-eyed boys with a strawberry mark on their right shoulders, while everybody else goes free.

Need Democratic Draft
It is admitted that education is important, but a great many successful people never went to college, and a great many bums did attend the better seminaries. But this is really beside the point.

The point is that the draft, like death and taxes, should be Democratic in its administration. If there is a war stirring, and if a draft is necessary, then the obligation belongs to everybody. The load is shareable by all—not just a few. You can't segregate a war according to culture.

It would, per se, be foolish to make a foot soldier out of a budding doctor, or throw a carbine at a brilliant physicist or engineer who is winding up his studies. But most of the men affected by the new draft order are not special cases. They are just youngsters taking general courses.

It is a human oddity that nobody cares to be drafted, and very few sane folks are eager to die. When a man is ordered by his government to conform to one or both penalties against personal freedom, he sort of likes to think that everybody is getting the same deal. A man without a college education is just as dear to his family and friends as a double dome with a triple degree in botany. And it is hard to tell, by looking at a dead GI, whether or not he was fortunate enough to get the full dose of schoolhouse-ing.

Privileged Class
To make a privileged class of any massive group of healthy young men is a downright insult to every candidate for the press gang. It would be of small comfort to a young man unfreezing his feet in Korea to reflect that his friend Bill, who could afford to go to college, was at the moment chasing a coed around the drinking room in a fraternity house at dear old Bless U.

This new move by Truman and Draft Director Hershey also does another cute thing. It automatically defers every college athlete in the country who can pass enough courses in physical education to stay in school. Right there you lose a heavy strand of desirable sinew for war.

The other angle is that your college man is highly usable in the armed forces, because if he can pass his courses the chances are he can think. Thinkers make great noncoms and officers. What do we seek here, a military composed strictly of fools, disgruntled poor boys, and morons?

If the great brains in Washington wish to really louse up the morale of their handcluff volunteers, this is a gorgeous way to do it. I still say the thing is to draft everybody within the limits of age, physical qualifications, and dependency, and then sort 'em out according to their best use from a military standpoint. This block deferment of students and smart guys is an insult to every cross at Anzio, and to every civilian who presently wears the uniform of his country.

Some of the giant tank ships that carry crude oil and petroleum products will hold as much as 10,000,000 gallons.
